The network you are using is a secured employer network that only allows whitelisted websites to be used. A personal connection would work better. If you prefer to do your exam at work on the employers’ network, please use this link to test your system:

<https://scorpion.caveon.com/launchpad/oleary-box-09-sytem-check/system-check> If the exam doesn’t launch, then you cannot take your exam at work or you will need to ask your employment network administration to whitelist the exam.
